- Practicality and ease of vehicle access for residents should be a priority; more dining options would be nice.
- Connectivity to and from with multimedia access and transit
- A place that has good public art
- And show off our nature. Which is why we're highly rated.
- Inclusive to all folks, walkable, lots of amenities close by, educational
- Even small sleepy towns have functional city centers
- Town Center is connected to everything and nature.
- A place that demonstrates Sammamish's character where people in the community can easily access basic amenities but also show off the restaurants, retail, businesses, parks and beauty of where we live.
- Low impact development when building
- I would like to see small unique businesses, restaurants, gathering spaces and room for community events with character and max 4-5 story architecturally pleasing buildings.

- A place where there are open/green/gathering spaces, with local businesses where you do not feel like you are sitting in a parking lot.
- Preservation of nature, focus development where concrete already exists.
- I'd like Sammamish to develop a great downtown at 228th & Inglewood, the real center of town
- A place where all ages gather and have fun
- Variety of services, shop options, walkable, place to drink or eat, views capes, art, people interacting, activities, able to sit & converse, meet & do things in that center/area
- Sustainable green building
- Awesome shops and out door amenities that bring out the amazing northwest
- Affordable mixed housing for diverse populations, variety of small, nonchain businesses, walkable, open space, something for everyone, day and nightlife, a destination, green

- Whatever they are, please make sure they are kept green. We have so many dead trees and vegetation along 228th. It's very disappointing.
- Heavy emphasis on walkability, integration of nature, stores with focus on sustainability and beauty (art), and lowest profile possible.
- Meet needs of the youth.
- Showcase good green building techniques
- Gathering place with lots of commercial/food options
- Would like more height for compactness and structured parking for cars, scooters, and bikes.
- A sustainable location that will draw enough within Sammamish
- Different, Diverse and Smaller housing options based on local needs and wants over life, then set suitable economic services, then local and regional transit based on these land uses.
- A place for living, earning, ability to be walking out of the home to get needs
